From: Financial Times <subscription@email.ft.com>
To: Ehbarak1@gmail.com
CC:
Date: Sat, 6/28/2014 2:38:48 PM
Subject: Wealth around the world

To view this email as a web page, click here.

FINANCIAL TIMES
FT Wealth

Wealth around the world: this issue delves into the growing number of Chinese museums and galleries, discusses South Korea's use of literature as a form of 'soft power', and asks whether now is the time to invest in Kazakhstan

View this special report

Inside this report:

Down but not out

Cricketers are the poor relations of British sport but the game is improving its financial acumen

Literary leverage

By supporting its book publishing industry, the Asian country is aiming to increase its influence overseas

Empires of culture

China’s wealthy are building new museums to display the country’s treasures and to educate people about its past

Uncertain steppes

As the central Asian country’s economy expands, some worry about the competing influences at home and abroad

Beware the bears

‘The more noise the bears make, the more pessimistic the overall tone’

The art of borrowing

‘If the exhibition is at MoMA or The Met it is every collector’s dream’

View this special report

The FT produces approximately 250 special reports a year written by FT experts in business and international affairs. Each report provides a forensic assessment by country, region or industry sector plus big trends in finance, business and management.

Browse and filter reports by category in FT.com's growing online archive.

If you no longer wish to receive Special Report email alerts from the Financial Times please click here. This email was sent to Ehbarak1@gmail.com.

We take your privacy seriously, to read our Privacy Policy click here.

If you have any customer service queries or questions about your subscription please contact us.

We use pixels in HTML emails (not in plain text emails) to tell us if the email is opened or links in it are clicked on. The pixel will be deleted if you delete the email. See our cookie policy for more information.

© THE FINANCIAL TIMES LTD 2014 FT and 'Financial Times' are trademarks of The Financial Times Ltd.
Registered Office Address: The Financial Times Ltd, Number One Southwark Bridge, London SE1 9HL.
Registered in England, Registration No: 227590.